SCOTSDALE, Aug. 12.—William Cramer, aged 17 years, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Cramer, prominent residents of the Fourth Ward, fell from the roof of the new Frick store at Raleigh, a distance of about 35 feet, yesterday evening at 5 o'clock and died two hours later from the injuries he sustained. The young man was employed with L. A. Miller & Brothers, the tinners and roofers of Scottdale, and had started to work just an hour before the fatal accident occurred.

His fellow workmen say that the young man's footing slipped and that he was unable, after a desperate endeavor, to regain his footing. When he was lifted from the ground he was unconscious and it was seen that he was seriously injured. Dr. J. D. Cox of New Salem was called and his examination showed that the victim had his left arm fractured above the wrist, there was a severe cut in his head, a fracture of the collar bone and internal injuries. The unfortunate boy was placed on a cot in the store building and there he passed away at 7 o'clock. Besides his father and mother he is survived by four brothers and three sisters. The body was taken in charge by Undertaker Clark D. Dearth of New Salem and will be brought to Scottdale today for burial.

Picnic Had Accident.

A wagonette containing 25 children of the Baptist Sunday school of Scottdale upset at Reister's grove where they went for a picnic yesterday and several were injured. The ones that suffered worst were:

Mrs. T. J. O'Donnell, aged 35, who was chaperoning the picnic, and who was badly bruised about the head, and was taken to her home on Broadway, on account of her serious injuries.

The six-year-old daughter of William Dearth, who had her right leg broken below the knee, and was also removed to her home.

The eight-year-old daughter of Arthur E. Collins of Pittsburgh street, was bruised about the back and hip, but her condition was not serious.

Dr. L. T. Gilbert was called and dressed the injuries, and the picnic was continued. The wagonette was from John T. Stauffer's grocery store, and was loaded with children ranging in age from four to 12 years, members of the Primary Department of the Sunday school, and as the picnic was at a distance it was necessary to employ a wagonette in conveying the children to the grounds. In going up a hill the horses balked when they reached the top, allowing the wagonette to run back down the hill, at the bottom of which it overturned, throwing the children out in a heap. Bystanders were called into use to convey the injured ones home, and Mrs. O'Donnell was taken home in a cab. Soldiers Are Visiting.

Lieutenant Joseph Morrow and Lieutenant Herrington have been visiting the former's aunt, Mrs. Heister A. Anderson, and old time friends in Scottdale. Lieutenant Morrow, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Caldwell Morrow, formerly of Scottdale and now of Pittsburgh, and both young men are graduates of West Point in this year's class. Lieutenant Morrow will leave for service in the Philippines in a month from now.

Marion Hall's Picnic.

The Marion Hall Association, made up of members of the Masonic fraternity, with their wives, sisters and sweethearts, left on a special train on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad this morning for a day's outing at Ohioville. About 150 went on the train which came up to Elverson. They will be joined by friends from Conneltsville, Dawson and Uniontown.

Have Gone to Chautauqua. Mrs. A. W. Streicker and daughter, Helen, and Miss Emma Gibson have gone to Chautauqua for a couple of weeks. Miss Gibson, who is a teacher in the Scottdale schools, was met in Pittsburgh by Miss Cleo McKee, another teacher in the local schools, who accompanied the party to Chautauqua. School Board to Meet.

The Scottdale Board of Education will meet at the Director's room in the Chestnut street building this evening to consider the application of one who desires to be Principal of the Scottdale schools, to take the place made vacant by the resignation of Principal Edgar Reed, who goes to the Lebanon schools.

MISER'S NOVEL GIVES UP RICHES.

$50,000 Was Found in an Old Cabin in Pittsburg.

SEARCH NOT YET COMPLETED

Peter Liebach, a North Side Hermit, Peddled Mint and Was Supposed to Be an Object of Charity—Search Was Made of Shack.

Pittsburg, Aug. 12.—Wildest dreams of action writers on misers' hoarded treasures have seldom exceeded the tale of fact that was unfolded when at the hotel on Pittsburg's Northside, where for years Peter Liebach has lived a hermit, was searched and approximately $50,000 in paper money and gold was discovered. The search has not yet been completed and it is expected that more hidden wealth will be found. In addition to the cash haunted away from the hillside cabin, bank books showing deposits aggregating $25,000 more were found.

Liebach occupies a cell in the Allegheny City poor farm and insane hospital at Clarmont. He was taken there by order of the department of charities to be held pending an investigation of his sanity.

Peddled Mint Since Boyhood.
Liebach has peddled mint since he was a boy and from this source it is supposed that much of his wealth came. He was regarded as an object of charity by those who knew him and none imagined that he was worth a cent other than the home lent him by his parents.

From every recess in the tumbled-down shack where Liebach made his home money was pulled. Pocketbooks, stockings, bedticks, trunks, chests, cigar boxes, tobacco tins and books poured out their hoards of bills, silver dollars, halves, quarters, dimes, nickels and pennies. From garret to roof the police searched, and in every one of the four rooms of the place money was found—money of all ages, denominations and states of preservation.

Some of it had been sorted by the miser, but in other boxes and baskets coins of all values were mixed indiscriminately. There was little gold, the entire amount of this specie discovered being only $42. Of this $15 was in $1 goldpieces, all of which are at a large premium. The other gold was in $5 and $20 pieces.

Many of the coins were of ancient date, some of them having been minted early last century. One Spanish piece was dated 1776 and when the money is all sorted it is expected that coins of rare value will be discovered.

Police Are Puzzled.

One matter that puzzles the police is the finding of so many pocketbooks.
These books were of every kind, purses, billbooks and combinations. A few of them were women's purses.
Another matter of speculation is a Shriner's pin of exquisite workmanship and rare design. It is studded with a valuable diamond. A watch charm found among the coins also is set with a diamond of much value.
It is thought by the police that these may have been pawned by the owner or that they may have been found by Liebach.

The Liebach novel beggars description. Clothing of other ages, in rags and in good state of preservation, was mixed promiscuously with more modern raiment. An old "blunderbuss," loaded and primed, together with an up-to-date revolver, were the weapons kept by the miser to defend his wealth. In the garret huge piles of peppermint threw their fragrance through the place and overcame the odors of the dirt and filth of the dis-ordered rooms.

FEW RECESS APPOINTMENTS

President Will Fill Federal Bench Vacancies Only When It Is Imperative.
Beverly, Mass., Aug. 12.—President Taft announced that it will be his policy to make as few recess appointments as possible. In cases of vacancies on the federal bench, especially, the president has stated he will make appointments only in districts or circuits where the need of a judge is shown to be imperative.

The president does not believe it good policy to appoint a man to a life position and to commission him in the absence of confirmation by the senate. There have been several instances in recent years when federal judges failed of confirmation after serving from one to three years and the situation thus created have been extremely embarrassing.

Chicago Traction Officials and Men Fail to Get Together.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—The street car strike situation is darker than it has been, since the union men voted to strike. The failure of the conference between the union leaders and the officials of the street railway companies to result in any tangible offer that the union officers thought they could take to their men gave rise to a growing dissatisfaction among the employees.

The union officers demand something besides promises to place before their men and declare that unless they get it soon they will not be responsible for what might occur.

An early settlement is predicted by Walter L. Fisher, the city's representative in the conference, but that a strike seems almost inevitable is the assertion of M. B. Herely, city traction expert.

BAKER'S REPORT READY

Plan to Overcome Alleged Discrimination Against American Commerce.

Baltimore, Aug. 12.—Barnard N.
Baker, of this city, banker and founder of the Atlantic Transport Steamship line, who has at the instance of President Taft been investigating the matter of freight rates over the Panama railroad, owned by the United States government, has prepared his final report to the president bearing on the alleged discriminations of the Panama railroad and Panama Steamship company against American commerce crossing the isthmus.

In this report, Mr. Baker recommends that the government, by the aid of mail contracts, encourage the establishment of an independent line or lines of steamers on each coast, which shall connect with the Panama railroad. The plan proposed is comprehensive and does not, as has been urged, contemplate that the government shall enter the steamship business.

ASHTABULA ENTERS FIELD

With New Railroad It Promises Competition as a Coal Shipping Port.

Ashtabula, O., Aug. 12.—Colonel J.
M. Schoonmaker, vice president and general manager of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railway, announced here that the dock property on the east side of the new lake front slip, which is a part of the $4,000,000 improvement which the Lake Shore company now has in progress here, has been leased by the Jones & Laughlin, Shenango Furnace, Republic Iron and Steel and Andrews & Hitchcock companies and that equipment and improvement costing $3,000,000 will be made before the opening of navigation next year.

Another reason is to see Ashtabula enter the anthracite coal shipping field in competition with Buffalo, as a result of the opening of the new road from Franklin to the hard coal districts.

MAINTAINS HIS INNOCENCE

Gustave O'Blazer Charged With Murder of Mrs. Galahn.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 12.—Gustave O'Blazer was arraigned on a warrant charging him with the murder of Mrs.
Martha Galahn, whose dead body was found in a clump of bushes in Ham-tramck. O'Blazer entered a plea of not guilty before Justice Binder and was remanded for examination.

O'Blazer, who came under suspicion after his friendly relations with Mrs.
Galahn became known, surrendered himself to the authorities. Since that time he has been submitted to rigorous questioning by the police, but throughout the ordeal has maintained his innocence of the crime with which he is now charged.

Pennsylvania Railroad Company placed an order at its shops here for 2,000 cars, 500 of which will be coke cars and the remainder box cars.

"I guess you're a fixture here. You wouldn't be happy in any other lodging," he went on, looking at Jimmy, who was lying on his back with his eyes closed, as if he were asleep, but not asleep, yet partook, if anything, of kindness. "You ought to see the cute little quarters I have. They're in a bachelor apartment house. I want you to come around one of these evenings. You'll come, won't you?"
"Maybe, one of these odd evenings.
We've got to provide accommodations for more boys, and I'm a busy man, so you mustn't bank on me for anything."

"All right. If that ain't a refusal any evening you can dispose of will suit me. Just let me know you're coming; that's all."

For the hundredth time his eyes wandered to portraits of himself and his wife in a silver stand on the table.
They had presented photographs and stood to Smith soon after their marriage.

"You're still got that, I see," he said, indicating it with a nod of the head.
"Of course."
"How is she by the by?"
"At last he had brought the conversation round to where he wanted it."
"Emma? Oh, she was all right when I last heard about her."
"Heard about her? She's living with her mother, isn't she?"
"Certainly. I haven't seen them for some time. All the family's out of town."

Brooks could not conceal his disappointment.
"Where are they staying? Is it far from the city?"
"Quite some distance."

"Well, where is it? At the seaside?
In the country?" he demanded, exasperated. "Why don't you come out with a straight answer instead of dodging? What do you think I am?
What do you think I came here for?"
"You said you came to see how I was getting along."

Brooks could have kicked himself for having been betrayed into losing his temper. It was a bad break for a man having a favor to ask.

"Of course I came for that, Jimmy," he said, the anger gone from his voice.
"But it's only natural I should ask for news of my family. You don't seem to think I have any rights or feelings. I am still Emma's husband, and it ain't because we've had a tiff that we're to be at enmity and dog for the rest of our lives, I suppose."

"I haven't forgotten that you're Emma's husband, but the matter of your rights is open to a difference of construction, and I'm entitled to my own opinion. I do consider it perfectly natural, however, that you should be curious about your family, and I've answered every question you've put to me except the last. I'm under promise not to disclose their whereabouts to anybody. That's why."

"Yes, you've answered my questions, but you've confused yourself to 'Yes' and 'No' as if you were a witness under cross examination."

He passed his hand over his eyes and sighed.

"It ain't like you, Jimmy," he continued. "It ain't like you a bit. I thought you at least wouldn't turn against me. He's a good man who never does anything wrong."
"That's right. I guess there are more men who do wrong and aren't found out than there are men who do wrong and are discovered, and I ain't in the business of heaving rocks at any man—certainly not at you."

"I'm glad to hear you say that. I've been living on the level ever since you can believe me, Jimmy—ask the bank if my accounts ain't in order—and I'm going to keep straight too.
What more can I do, except say I'm sorry? What more does anybody want me to do?"

"Nothing, I should think."
"You believe me, Jimmy?"
"You believe you're speaking the truth, and I hope with all my heart and soul you'll keep right on the way you're going. And now you know how I feel about it, come right out and tell me what brought you here."

"I will, then. I want to know about Emma. It's a year now since she was separated, and I won't stand it any longer. I want her to come back to me. I simply can't do without her."

CHAPTER XX.

UP in the California sun had the whole sky to itself. Everything presaged a hot day.

Early though the hour was the clock had not yet struck—Emma was out on the piazza, dressed for walking. She wore a cool, clinging costume of pale straw colored tulle, so short that it descended little below the tops of her high buttoned light tan shoes. A soft felt hat, such as men travelers roll up and carry in their pockets, was secured to her fair hair by a batpin, and its limp border hung down and shaded her eyes. These, of a blue that rivaled the heavens, were sparkling with admiration of the scene, and her cheeks glowed with health.

She made a lovely picture as she stood gazing out into the valley. Jimmy Smith, who had stopped on the road above on his way from the hotel, where he had put up the night before and of whose presence there at that moment she was quite unconscious, thought he had never seen any picture so beautiful in all his life. But, then, Jimmy's judgment was biased. He had always considered Emma pretty and found something to admire in her even when, with grimy hands and in soiled cotton dress, she was engaged in the unpoetical occupation of polishing the kitchen stove.

Beth, her hair twisted into little wave knots with queer pins and attired in a pink wrapper, joined her.
"Why don't you get your things on and come with us?" urged Emma.

"Jimmy will be here at 6 o'clock."
"No, Northampton? No, thank you! I had enough walking yesterday.
I'm going to church; mother's coming too. We didn't go last Sunday, and the whole pack will be coming if the family don't represent sometimes by some one or other. They'll think I've lost my mind. Besides, I'm going to see the new gown Jimmy brought up for me from the dressmaker. Wasn't I lucky he was coming? It wouldn't have been here till Tuesday, you know."

That man's always on hand just when he's wanted. Won't those Parsons girls stare?"

"Jimmy walked down through the laurel hedges."

"Beth," he said by way of salutation, "that's the most common sense mountain climbing outfit I ever saw."

"It's very rude to make remarks about people's clothing when they're not dressed to receive," she retorted.

"You're not privileged to express any opinion. It's too early. But it's quite impossible to stay abed with Emma carrying on as if it was the middle of the day. She's been humming all over the house since 5 o'clock, and all that because she's going for a climb."

"Why she hasn't slept a wink thinking of her new dress," laughed Emma.

"Well, Beth, by the time you've got your hair out of curl and settled down in your pew," observed Smith, "we shall be several hundred feet heavier than the cherubs listening to the solemn anthems of the wailing psalmists. Yes, I said the solemn anthems of the wailing psalmists."

"Jimmy, if I didn't know different I'd suspect you of being a poet. The next thing we know you'll be wearing your hair long and pouring out your soul in Sapphic stanzas like—like Emma, here."

death.
"Maybe, but if they have she hasn't told me about it. And she doesn't carry it with her countenance as you'd notice it."

"Jimmy, I must see her. Tell me where she is."

"You can't find out from me. I'd tell you willingly enough, but she served an injunction on me ages before you came here, and I'm not going to put myself in contempt of court."

Brooks jumped up and nervously knocked the ash from his cigar on to a tray.

"You've known Emma and me for over six years, Jimmy," he said. "And you know all about us and how happy we were together—how I tried to make her happy, shared everything for her.
You were always a good friend to both of us. That's why I'm here—that's why I'm going to ask you to do me a favor. Will you?"

"Joe, I'll do anything within the bounds of reason."

"I knew you wouldn't refuse. I want you to see Emma alone—not with her mother and Beth around; they'd quiver everything. I want you to ask her to let bygones be bygones and come back to me. We'll begin all over again, and this time we'll begin right. Tell her I'm well fixed. I'm ahead of the game.
I've got money, by—earned and saved it—and a good place. There'll be no more hard pulling like these, Jimmy, in the old time. Tell her I'm more sorry than I can express for our little misunderstanding—sorry and miserable. Tell her I love her more than ever and that if she will see me she will understand."

Smith nodded assent.

"Add, Jimmy, put in a good word for me—plead for me—do it as if it was for yourself. Emma will listen to you when she won't to any one else. You know she thinks a whole lot of you.
Will you do this for me?"

"Yes, I'll do it, Joe."

"Soon?"

"Let's see; this is Tuesday. I'll see her Sunday on purpose."

Brooks went to him and seized his hand with both his own.

"Jimmy, you are the best ever!" he exclaimed fervently. "I knew I could count on you. I'll never forget this turn you're doing me—never! And Emma will appreciate it too. Good night and God bless you."

He wrung Smith's hand again.

At the door he turned with this recommendation:

"Don't forget, Jimmy. Plead with her as if it was for yourself."

Smith sat staring straight before him for an hour.

MISS PHILLIPS A SUICIDE

Young Woman Was Widely Known as "Miss Santa Claus."

Philadelphia, Aug. 12.—Miss Elizabeth A. Phillips, known widely as "Miss Santa Claus," committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas. She was found in a room at her home with a gas tube in her mouth. No motive is known for her self-destruction.

Miss Phillips enjoyed almost a national reputation by reason of her work at Christmas time among the poor children. For weeks prior to Christmas of each year she collected funds which she expended for toys and clothing for the needy and on Christmas eve she visited the homes of the children in a big automobile. She was a familiar figure in all local newspaper offices and was the subject of a number of special "Christmas stories."

The Cokers were crippled yesterday but that didn't make any difference to Fairmont, which team won by a 13 to 0 score. It was a day of carnage in the baseball world, Uniontown trouncing Grafton 10 to 1 and New York annihilating St. Louis 19 to 2, scoring 10 of their runs in one inning.

Gilligan and Ike Francis were out of the game and that necessitated a shift. Chip Francis was put on first base. He handled 10 chances without a miscue and got one of the two bingles King allowed. Myers went in at short and took seven of his eight chances. Johnny Yodt handled the two opportunities that came his way in right field.

Manager Sweeney remembered Sunday's experience against King. In that game Yodt got two of the Cokers' five hits, so Johnny was tried in the outfield but found wanting with the willow.

Blumer Cannon lasted two innings and was pounded hard, while Brooks, who succeeded him, fared but little better. The score:

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.

The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.
It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, needs to be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. One dollar bottles guaranteed. Graham & Co., special agents.

LINER HAS MISHAP.

Drifts Helplessly For Hours Off North Carolina Coast.

Beaufort, N. C., Aug. 12.—Late wireless reports state that the steamer Huron of the Clyde line is standing by the crippled steamer Arapahoe of the same line and will probably take her in tow.

The Arapahoe, for Charleston and Savannah from New York, broke her tail shaft when sixty miles off Diamond Shoals, lightship and drifted helplessly for hours in a strong north-east wind. "C. Q. D." signals to wireless stations on shore promptly started a small fleet of tugs out to her assistance.

The Arapahoe was heavily loaded and carried a large number of passengers.

NO TRACE OF STEAMER

British Vessel, With 300 Aboard, Missing For Three Weeks.

Simonstown, Cape Colony, Aug. 12.—The British cruiser Forte has returned here after an unsuccessful search for the steamer Waratah, during which a distance of 1,320 miles was covered.

The Waratah, a British steamer, has been missing since July 26, when she sailed from Port Natal. She had on board ninety-three passengers and a crew of 207 men.

Bride Swallows Carbolic Acid.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 12.—Mrs. Ella, Fitchard of Bellaire, O., aged twenty-five years and a bride of only a few months, while quarrelling with her husband grabbed a two-ounce bottle of carbolic acid and after struggling with her spouse swallowed the contents, dying in two minutes.

A LAFAYETTE

WOMAN HUNG

Marvelous Result of a Woman's Plea.
An old lady called on the Root Juice scientist over at Lafayette, Ind., and said: "I actually hung to the neck of my husband and pleaded with him to try Root Juice. So much was being said about the remarkable cures the remedy has made that I felt it might do him some good. He had suffered for years with his stomach and kidneys and severe headaches. Every change of the weather his back pained him very much and of late years the lightest food would ferment in his stomach and bowels and cause him to bloat so that he could not button his vest. He tried so many medicines that he lost heart, but I finally persuaded him to take Root Juice. He has used but a little over two bottles and I never saw such a change in a man in my life. He told me this morning that he would not take the best farm in the State for what the wonderful medicine does for him." A number of local people have reported remarkable cures resulting from a short use of the great health promoting discovery. It gives a good appetite, creates good digestion and seems to heal and tone every organ in the body. Root Juice is a bottle, or three bottles for $2.50, at Graham & Company's drug store.

Grand Jury Investigates Alleged Stock Shifting Scheme.

YOUNG PERSCH STILL IN JAIL

Stocks Supposed to Be Safe in Banks Vaults Have Reached New York Market—"Men Higher Up" Are Hinted At.

New York, Aug. 12.—With a second charge lodged against him, Donald L. Persch, the young stock broker, who was arrested charged with the theory of copper stocks belonging to F. Augustus Heinze, is still a prisoner, and while there were no additional arrests the district attorney's office has ascertained that he was not alone in the transaction.

The case will be placed before the grand jury today and the evidence at hand, it is said, will reveal a systematic scheme, worked not only in this city, but in Philadelphia and Boston, whereby stocks supposed to be safe in the vaults of banks have in reality been furnished to individuals who placed them on the market at a profit. Though Mr. Heinze, according to Wall street's analysis of the affair, was at first thought to be a particular victim, it has come out through the district attorney's office that other men suffered likewise.

One man at least was thus nipped. He is J. M. Everett of Boston, whose New York brokers, Cram, Miliken & company, made the additional charge against young Persch. According to that firm Persch negotiated a loan of $7,000 on stock owned by Mr. Everett. The stock in question was 100,000 shares of the Eclipse Oil company and the name of Henry F. Bishborough of Philadelphia appeared as the man who furnished the money. Coincidentally one of Mr. Bishborough's references was Charles Katz, the Brooklyn brewer, who has been mentioned in the Heinze loan methods pursued in the Everett case, according to a charge made, were similar to those when the Heinze copper stocks were put on the curb—that is, the stocks were hypothecated after having been put up as security.

Charles Warfield, president of one of the Heinze copper companies, is also said to have lost considerable money through the same stock shifting. Witness after witness was questioned at the district attorney's office and further developments are expected. The "men higher up," whom Persch "intimated" were associated with him, have not been pinned down definitely as yet, for Persch, acting on the advice of counsel, has kept his mouth shut.

The coroner pronounced the case suicide on the part of the woman. The body of the baby was clasped tightly in the woman's arms.
